TO-DAY'S CABLES.

(Router's Service to the China Mail.)

RUSSIAN TREATY'S FATE.

GENOA STILL UNDECIDED.

GERMAN'S AWKWARD PROBLEM.

GENOA, April 20.

The conferees to-day split into conclaves for discussing the Russo-German imbroglio. Mr. Lloyd George first conferred with Lord Birkenhead and other British delegates after which the delegates of the Little Entente, Poland and Portugal were admitted to the conference.

The British delegates and other convening powers all lunched together and continued their conversations in the afternoon.

The Germans, who worked late last night, continued their deliberations this morning. Herr. Rathenau meanwhile is constantly consulting Signor Schanzer. They are still undecided regarding the nature of their reply to the Allies' note but hope to present it in the evening.

BRITISH PROPERTY IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, April 20.

Mr. Leslie Urquhart, Chairman of the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated Co., has been summoned to Genoa. This is regarded as indicating the Soviet's acceptance of principles enabling British owners to resume operations with the Russian properties.

A London cable dated August 11 said: Relaxation of the hostile-Soviet policy against foreign interests is indicated by the fact that Lenin's Government has invited Mr. Leslie Urquhart, chairman of the Russo Asiatic Consolidated Co., accompanied by five technical experts, to proceed to Moscow to pursue the preliminary negotiation started by Krassin in London with a view to the return of the Russo-Asiatic Co's Siberian properties. It is expected that an agreement will be concluded in a few weeks. The Financial Times understands that, while Mr. Urquhart's visit is primarily concerned with his own company's properties, he will be able to protect other great British interests in Russia. The newspaper believes that all future agreements will be modelled on the Russo-Asiatic Co. settlement.

LLOYD GEORGE'S OPTIMISM.

GENOA, April 20.

Mr. Lloyd George has adhered to his original view of a favourable outcome of the conference. In an interview with the journalists he said:

"The conference will successfully end in the pacification of Europe and the formulation of schemes for reconstruction of the devastated continent."

"Those desiring failure of the conference are traitors to the cause."

The Russo-German treaty position was serious but presumably the Germans had accepted exclusion from the Russian discussions and no further difficulty was anticipated from that matter. He was also confident that a pact against aggression would be concluded.

RUSSIA AND HER DEBTS.

PARIS, April 20.

A message from Genoa forecasts that the Russian reply to the London memorandum which is being delivered to-morrow reiterates that the Soviets will recognise pre-war debts provided the Allies offset the damages inflicted by the anti-revolutionary expeditions. They agree to pay the balance if the Allies grant moratorium credits.

CHURCHILL'S ACCIDENT

APPALLING EXPLOSION.

HUNDREDS BURIED ALIVE.

TOWN IN A PANIC.

ATHENS, April 20.

Stores of war material near the railway station at Monastir have exploded disastrously.

There is a huge death toll. Hundreds of children have been buried in the ruins of a church where a shell exploded. It is believed that 1,800 soldiers have been buried in the ruins of the barracks where the troops were lunched at the time of the disaster.

Fires have broken out at several points in the town. The inhabitants are panic-stricken and have fled as the whole town is endangered.

30,000 HOMELESS.

LONDON, April 20.

Authentic figure of the casualties in the Monastir explosion have hitherto not been ascertained, but a Paris message from Belgrade states that 30,000 homeless people are taking refuge in the woods. The scene of the disaster is unapproachable in consequence of explosion still continuing. The trouble seems to have arisen over 400 wagon loads of ammunition belonging to the former eastern army.

LATEST IRISH SENSATION.

LABOUR PARTY DECLARES 24-HOUR STRIKE.

BOYCOTT AGAINST MILITARISM.

LONDON, April 20.

The Irish Labour Party has proclaimed a 24-hour general strike for Monday as a protest against militarism and the failure of the politicians to come to an agreement.

The party suggests that representatives of the anti-treaty commandant O'Connor's body be invited to attend the adjourned peace conference.

A Labour manifesto declares that it is for the Dal Eireann to reunite the army and country and demands that it assert its authority or make way for the people.

It is understood that the strike will affect all railways and postal and telegraph services.

DAMASCUS DISTRESS

SEVERE SENTENCES.

CAIRO, April 20.

A message from Damascus states that severe sentences have been inflicted in connection with the anti-French disturbances mentioned on April 18, including Dr. Chahandar twenty years detention in the fortress, and Hassan Hakim, former Director of Posts and Telegraphs ten years imprisonment.

[A Cairo message dated April 18, stated:—Following on anti-French demonstrations at Damascus on April 7 in which forty people were arrested, crowds assembled demanding their release. They ignored warnings to disperse and were fired on by the police with the result that two were killed and seven wounded. After the imposition of curfew the troops regained control of the situation.]

AEROPLANE DISASTER.

LONDON, April 20.

A large congregation including Sir Keith Smith and Brigadier Trotter, on behalf of the Prince of Wales, also representatives of Mr. Winston Churchill, the British and foreign air services, and the Australian Government were present at a memorial service to the late Sir Ross Smith and Lieut. Bennett held at St. Clement's, Dares Church. The Air Force band played during the service.

HOW PARIS WAS SAVED.

REMARKABLE MARNE BATTLE INCIDENT.

In "La Véritable Histoire des Taxis de la Marne" (Clapet, Paris, 2s. 6d.) Commandant H. Carré tells the stirring history of one of the most remarkable incidents in the first battle of the Marne, when help at a most critical moment was brought up to Maunoury's army in its desperate struggle with Kluck by a hastily requisitioned force of Paris taxicabs.

General Maunoury, in a preface, vouches alike for the exactitude and the charm of the narrative. This is, indeed, one of the very best of war books, full of humour and also of direct touches which bring home the grimness of battle. It places the reader on the field, at one of the greatest moments of all history.

The French 7th Division received Maunoury's orders in the evening of September 7, to arrive at 4 a.m. next day at Metz, in order to carry out the violent offensive on the Ourcq against the Germans. But Metz was 30 miles from Paris where the 7th Division was, and to cover that distance on foot was out of the question. The railway was in such danger that it could only move half the force needed.

General Gallieni, Governor of Paris had already taken steps to requisition the Paris taxicabs. The companies owing them were asked to keep them ready. The Germans were advancing fast on Paris and the cabs might be needed at any moment to evacuate women and children. In one company the drivers were asked to sign an undertaking to this effect: "I, the undersigned, engage on my honour to be at the garage at 11 a.m."

Not a single man refused to sign the undertaking and not a single man broke his word. Late in the evening of September 6 Gallieni issued instructions "to collect all the available motor vehicles and direct them to points which would be indicated for the transport of 6,000 men."

A COLUMN OF CABS.

At 11 p.m. the requisitioning began, aided by the police, and a great column of taxicabs began to form up. The command was brief and peremptory: "I requisition you, order of the Governor of Paris; come with me!" By daybreak the column was near Dammarville and half of there, as no orders had yet been received as to its destination.

The drivers dismounted and took counsel. They asked where they to be taken into the firing line. At 8 a.m. the thunder of artillery began to cause them some uneasiness. Most of them showed a brave enough front but some of them gave signs of distinct nervousness.

As they waited listening to the far-off roar of the guns: "Two squadrons of dragoons moved up along the road. The bronzed faces, tired looks, and eyes haggard with sleeplessness of the young cavalrymen told of their exhaustion, yet they had an air of calm resolution which impressed and reassured."

Cavalry and artillery passed, and though the cannonade drew nearer—All this movement of troops towards the enemy strengthened the belief that we were taking the offensive and that "the enemy was going to get something unpleasant." With that extraordinary changelessness of impression which characterises the French race, the taxicab drivers' morale rose to such a degree that they declared their eagerness to be off for the front and "to do their bit."

As night fell on September 7, 1914, the taxicabs arrived at the point where they were to take up the troops, five in each cab. In all, 4,000 men were thus moved during the night of September 7-8, and they arrived fresh, rested, ready for battle, into which at once they moved. It was the crisis of the whole struggle on the Marne.

On September 8 the battle was won. The German wireless was issuing orders for the retreat.

EAST LONDON V. ETON.

Many a page of fiction has been used to tell how the young aristocrat, slim, cool-headed, and in perfect fighting trim, thrashed the "lout" of his own age but something like one and a half times his own weight. It was "science" that did it—a handy word and evidently a handy thing, for an ounce of science was always more than enough for a pound of "brute strength." There is something to be said for this aspect of the legend, but the odd thing was that the science and slimmness were always on the side of the upper classes. For the purposes of this legend the "lower orders" never ran to anything except beef, the upper to anything except brains and agility. This is, of course, itself unscientific, and there was a practical demonstration of the fact at Eton one Saturday night. Ten Eton boys boxed ten youths from a club in East London, and the result was one win for Eton and nine for East London. Seeing the interest that East London takes in boxing, and the fine eponents of the game that its clubs can turn out, the result is not perhaps surprising, except to anyone who has drawn his ideas on the subject from the kind of fiction that has been mentioned. But there seems to have been no doubt which detachment was the better crew from every point of view. The Londoners, says one, account, were in better condition than most of the Etonians, and the end of the allotted three rounds "appeared to be the fitter in nearly every match." And then follows the devastating assurance, which writers of boys' fiction had better paste up in their workrooms: "The Eton boys had plenty of girth and 'pluck, but they lacked the science 'of their opponents.'" However, there is one good consolation for Etonians; the club that supplied these conquerors evidently stands in the same relation to Eton College that the Hugh Oldham Club does to the Manchester Grammar School. Much of the science which its members displayed must have been acquired under the eye and training of Old Etonians—as it well might be, for Eton, besides all her own games, has turned out some boxers good enough to teach something to almost any amateur.—Manchester Guardian.

WOMEN VOTERS.

The women's franchise at Home has the age limit of thirty. The wise legislators who took two bites at this cherry considered that a female of 29 is too young and frivolous to take an intelligent interest in politics. Two years ago a Bill was read a second time which proposed to extend women's suffrage on equal terms with male suffrage, making, that is to say, the age limit twenty-one. Adult suffrage for both sexes sums it up. This Bill was aborted by abstentions in Standing Committee preventing a quorum. The different age limits have come to be regarded as a greater affront, and more illogical, than the old inequality of no suffrage at all for women. It is considered that a woman of 21 is more mature than a man of that age. In March last Lord Robert Cecil introduced, under the Ten Minutes Rule, a Bill to equalize the age at which the suffrage falls to both sexes. He said that women had voted in numbers about equal to those of the men, and had shown as sound an interest in good government. The Government was reluctant to concede this reform, but a big majority now might diminish that reluctance. He got his big majority. Only 60 voted against, and 208 for, a majority of 148, and the Bill was given its first reading. The most conspicuous opponent on this occasion seems to have been Lieut. Colonel Archer Shee, and if the women cannot improve upon his standard of logic they certainly do not deserve the suffrage. First of all he said that the number of male and female voters was already equal, and this would add a female majority of five millions. Next he said that as treasurer of the London Municipal Society he had learned that forty per cent. of the women could not be persuaded to go to the poll. There was no demand by "girls of 21 to 30" for the vote. His second reason for refusing the suffrage, if it did not include his first, certainly robbed it of its terrors. During the debate Viscountess Astor put in interpolated questions that seem to have non-plussed him. He did not, if the newspaper reports may be trusted, state the percentage of male voters who refrain from polling. His assertion that the ladies of 21 to 30 "have the greatest contempt for politicians" was a foolish admission to make. It proves as nothing else could their title to the suffrage, because the first essential towards getting good government, which is good politics, will be to weed out politicians like himself.

Women cannot possibly make a worse mess of politics than men have done. It is the hope of those who now support their claims that they will bring about a more equal balance of the

GENERAL OFFICERS' ADVICE.

YESTERDAY'S ANNUAL PARADE.

Many spectators round the Murray Parade ground yesterday afternoon viewed the annual inspection of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps by the General Officer Commanding the Troops (Major-General Sir John Fowler, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O.).

The Parade was disappointingly small, only 141 of 331 rank and file turning out. The turnout, not including 44 members on leave, represented only half the Force. The Corps marched down from headquarters headed by pipes and drums, and formed up facing Murray Barracks, with the Mounted Section forming a right-angle on the right flank.

The G.O.C., accompanied by his A.D.C. and several Staff Officers, was received with the grand salute. Lieut. Col. L. G. Bird, D.S.O., Administrative Commandant, was in charge of the Parade, and with him were the Adjutant, Major R. N. Young and Lieut. Col. Nicholson, D.A.A. and Q.M.G.

After the inspection, the parade formed three sides of a square, from the centre of which the General addressed the men complimenting them on their smart turn out on the occasion when they formed a guard of honour to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. His Royal Highness, he knew, was very pleased to see that they had a Volunteer Defence force here. The object of this inspection, the General proceeded, was to see the general turn out and appearance of the Corps and their steadiness on parade. He had much pleasure in telling them that he considered both were good. He need hardly say that in a place like Hongkong he thought that the number of members in the local Defence Force should be much greater than at present. This Force, he warned them to remember, was essentially for real service; not a show force, or simply a force got up to amuse, but to carry out real serious work when called upon. He was quite sure that the work done by the Volunteer Force during the recent troublesome times was fully appreciated by a large number of people. Great credit was due to the Force and members should get a larger number to join up and take a hand. He did not think in these times anyone could say that there was no chance of any further trouble, for all over the world there were riots and disturbances of some sort or other going on. It behooved them to be ready to meet any that might arise. He was entirely in favour of training in small units, such as in sections and platoons and he appealed to the men to work together and to get to know their N.C.O.s and officers so that they might have confidence in them. As far as Military Headquarters were concerned of course they had nothing to do with the Corps except to try and assist in the training and make it as efficient as they possibly could. They could rest assured that Military Headquarters would continue to take an interest in them and do all they could for them in the future.

Afterwards the Parade marched past, and the General took the Salute at the foot of the flagstaff from which floated the Union Jack. The men were then marched back to headquarters where they were dismissed.

There were present on parade:— Battalion Headquarters.—Lieut. Colonel L. G. Bird, Major R. B. Young, and 14 other ranks. Artillery Company.—Lieut. J. S. McCann and 10 other ranks. Engineers.—2 Lieut. News of a dastardly murder at Macao reached Hongkong yesterday. On Wednesday morning Mrs. Porfirio, wife of an assistant engineer in the Public Works Department, was in her bedroom at prayer when a robber entered and stabbed her in the back of the head. UNSAFE BUILDING.

BUILDING REGULATIONS IGNORED.

"A FLAGRANT CASE."

A. King, the well-known motor boat proprietor, was summoned before Magistrate Lindsell this morning by Mr. Grimes of the P.W.D., charged with having erected a building in Causeway Bay, near Whitfield, without the permission of the Building Authorities.

Mr. Grimes said that plans for the building were submitted in October last, but they were not approved. In spite of this, the defendant went on with the building and although he had been warned several times by letter as well as by the witness personally, the work was continued until April 4. The summons was taken out against him on the 12th. Mr. Grimes described this as a flagrant case of disregarding the orders of the Building Authorities and asked for the maximum penalty. The building, he understood, had cost $10,000 to erect but he did not think it was safe. He had personally spoken to the defendant about the building, and had told him that he was not satisfied with the steel joints used. Mr. Grimes also asked the Magistrate to direct that proper plans be sent in within a stipulated period, or further action would be taken against him.

Defendant said that new plans were sent in yesterday by Mr. Hazeland, his architect.

Mr. Grimes said that he had not seen or heard of them. The Magistrate imposed a fine of $100, and gave the defendant one week in which to forward new plans.

WEST RIVER NEWS.

TROOPS COLLECTING AT SHUI HING.

(From a Correspondent.)

WUCHOW. The news from the West River is very interesting at the moment. All steamers arriving at Wuchow, either from Canton or Hongkong, under the Chinese flag are immediately taken over by the military for conveying troops to Sam Shui. This leaves only three British boats the "Kong Ning," "Tai Ming" and "Kochow" to carry on.

General Ngai Bong Ping, on board the stern-wheeler "Nan Ning" was at Shui Hing on Thursday morning. All coast conveying troops are stopping at that port until the whole force is collected there.

There is great excitement at Wuchow but at all other points along the river everything is quiet. The shopkeepers are shy of taking the Provincial Bank paper; the Hongkong dollar stood to-day (Wednesday) at 121.

H. M. S. "Moonchen" is at present at Wuchow.

ST. DUNSTAN'S HOME.

HONGKONG FOOTBALL MEN'S HELP APPRECIATED.

Mr. N. L. Raitton, Honorary Secretary of the Hongkong Football Association, has received the following letter signed Ian Fraser, Chairman of the St. Dunstan's Home Fund:— "Dear Sir,—I have to acknowledge receipt of the very welcome contribution of $31.11.5, which has been sent for the benefit of St. Dunstan's blinded soldiers and sailors, and which is the result of charity football matches played under the auspices of the Hongkong Football Association.

"I enclose an official receipt for this amount, and with it I hope you will accept yourself and convey to the members of the Association and to all who participated in the efforts, an expression of very sincere and cordial thanks on behalf of the gallant men who will benefit by such practical interest in their welfare."

The sum, acknowledged, was the proceeds of charity matches held during Christmas and New Year holidays.

ROAD ACCIDENT.

MOTOR CAR KILLS CHINESE BOY.

A Chinese woman with her two sons, aged six and eight years respectively, was walking on the right side of the main road in Aberdeen village towards Hongkong yesterday afternoon, when the elder boy suddenly ran across the road. He was knocked down by motor car No. 338 which was travelling in the same direction and was killed instantaneously by the force of the impact.

LOCAL WEDDING.

ATTWELL-PARSONS.

The wedding took place at St John's Cathedral on Wednesday afternoon of Mr. Richard Erskine Attwell, of the Asiatic Petroleum Co., (S. C.) Ltd., youngest son of the late Mr. Richard Attwell, of Blackrock, Dublin, and Mrs. Attwell, of No. 10 Braid Hills Road, Edinburgh, to Miss Mona Hetty Parsons, elder daughter of the late Mr. E.W. Parsons and Mrs. Parsons, of Perth, Western Australia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Copley Moyle, Eng.-Commander G. W. Mathew R.N., gave the bride away. Mrs. Mathew acted as Matron of Honour and Miss Isabella Blair as bridesmaid. Mr. E. W. Hamilton was the groomsmen.

The bride was attired in a charming creation of white broad satin veiled with white silk tulle and old Brussels lace. Her veil was of tulle with a wreath of orange blossoms and white heather, and her bouquet of arm lilies and white heather.

Mrs. Mathew wore palest primrose charmuse with an overdress of Limerick lace and amber ornaments, and she carried a beautiful bouquet of tea roses. The bridesmaid was attired in a charming frock of Malmesbury pink with panels of antique Italian fillet lace. Her bouquet was composed of Malmesbury.

YARN MARKET REPORT.

Messrs. Pollishwalla and Kptwall, Cotton and Yarn Brokers, reported as follows this morning:

Since our last report on the 16th ult, per S S "Namsang," our yarn market has remained very sensitive, with a rather heavy decline in price which is mainly due to the alarming reports of a "probable political conflict between the Southern and Northern Republic of China, which has created great uneasiness among all Chinese dealers and the absolute uncertainty of this embarrassing political situation has made business almost impossible.

During the interval the Chinese dealers were tempted to make purchases on a large scale of 10 and 12s yarn in few known chops, but latterly the discouraging news have abated them from doing further business, while the sudden rise in Rupee exchange has further lowered the rates and at the close the tendency is dull and drooping. Bargain stocks in Chinese hands are heavy and deliveries very poor.

Total sales, 6,000 Bales.
Unsold stocks 11,000 Bales.
Bargain in Chinese hands 17,000 Bales.

Shanghai:—Reports moderate business and prices easier with great uncertainty about the position of the near future of the market owing to unsettled political situation.

Japanese Yarn:—During the entire interval there had been large and continuous fluctuations in this yarn on account of varying reports of rise and decline in prices in Japan.

The present low prices have induced Chinese buyers, which has resulted in a good business in 3,500 bales as under, but at the close the tone is quiet.

2,000 Bales Nagasaki No. 20s at $22.25; 50 Bales 3 Horses No. 16s at $22.21; 50 Bales 3 Horses No. 20s at $22.01; 1500 Bales Yellow Java No. 20s at $23.27; 1500 Bales Setu No. 10s at $18.7; 1500 Bales Setu No. 20s at $22.9; 1500 Bales Blue Fish No. 20s at $22.3.

Raw cotton:—400 small loose bales in Chinese cotton have changed hands at $37 to 40 per picul.

There is no stock of Bengal cotton and prices have remained steady at $29 to $34 per picul.

Four Chinese were charged before Magistrate Lindell yesterday afternoon with having been concerned in an armed robbery at the Hon Kee Bank, at Swatow, on April 17, when about $1,000 in silver dollars and $3 0 in subsidiary coins were stolen. The defendants were arrested as the result of a cable from Swatow. The local police searched all vessels arriving from Swatow, and finally arrested the defendants on the "Amakusa Maru" on Wednesday. All four men, who spoke in the Mandarin dialect, were remanded until Saturday on the application of Inspector Shannon who said he wanted to make enquiries about two of them who claimed to be military officers.

BREAKING UP AN ATOM.

SOME STARTLING EXPERIMENTS.

Sir Ernest Rutherford's lecture in London to the Chemical Society on "The artificial disintegration of the atom" drew a big audience. The scientific work upon which Sir Ernest is engaged, and in which he has already obtained such remarkable results, is of the greatest importance, as it is concerned with the two fundamental problems of the possibility or impossibility of the production of new sources of energy, and of transmutation of the elements.

In his lecture Sir Ernest described the objects in which he is particularly interested. These are the atoms of matter which are so small that it would take something of the order of 100,000,000 of them to bridge across a penny piece.

To Sir Ernest Rutherford, however, the atom is a universe. His researches give strong evidence that an atom of nitrogen, for instance, has a central nucleus composed of three helium nuclei, almost touching each other, and if the atom is magnified 1,000,000,000,000 times these would look about $\frac{1}{16}$ in diameter. In an orbit the diameter of a penny encircling this inner nucleus two hydrogen nuclei revolve like satellites. At this scale of magnification, however, the strategic boundary of the atom lies some 500ft. away from the centre of the nucleus in all directions.

The only other occupants of this huge sphere are seven electrons in the case of nitrogen. These are thought to be minute satellites, each of about 1-1,850th the mass of a hydrogen atom, but it is not yet known exactly where their orbits lie. Thus the solid atoms conceived by Dalton are chiefly the spheres of influence of a tiny nucleus enthroned at the centre of a vast realm of empty space.

Sir Ernest Rutherford then described how he had managed to hit some of these tiny nuclei by firing at them with shot composed of alpha particles. Some of these alpha particles, which are in reality helium nuclei, travel at the speed of 10,000 miles per second. Occasionally in their flight through a tube containing nitrogen gas one of these alpha particles passes near the nucleus of a nitrogen atom, and hitting one of the hydrogen satellites, may knock it out of the nitrogen atom.

The lecturer believes that nitrogen has a nucleus of three helium nuclei and two hydrogen satellites, while carbon has a nucleus of three helium nuclei, but no hydrogen satellites. Thus if the two hydrogen satellites could be knocked out of the nitrogen atom it might turn into carbon, and thus a kind of transmutation of the elements might take place.

Sir Ernest described the way in which, if aluminium is bombarded by alpha particles, hydrogen satellites are occasionally knocked out of the atoms, and that some of these possess 40 per cent. more energy than the alpha particles which struck them, thus making available a new source of energy, though only on a minute scale. Sir Ernest concluded by stating that the collisions between alpha particles and nuclei are so few that he considers there is practically no hope of transmuting elements on any scale that would be in the least degree of practical use, and in the same way he holds no hope of obtaining useful energy in this way.

The yacht "Aloka" flying the American flag and skippered by Captain F. Beazant reached Madras on March 22 from Calcutta. Her capacity is 659 tons and she is 169 feet long and 36 feet beam. Mr. Arthur Curtis James, a wealthy New York merchant, is her owner and he with a party of six friends is now on a pleasure trip round the world. The party, after visiting Japan, China, Java, Singapore, Rangoon, etc., landed in Calcutta a fortnight ago and are now touring in India. They are expected to arrive in Madras shortly and will then sail for Europe via Colombo and Aden.

The district authorities of Ko yui, Shinghing, recently decided to build a public garden on the Tse-shing-Ngan Hills. As the distance between the Hills and the Ko yui city is more than twenty li's, the scheme of building this public garden will include the construction of a road from Ko yui city to the hills. The cost of the road and the public garden is estimated at $40,000, which can be met by selling a piece of government land near the hills. The Tse-shing hills are well-known as one of the famous resorts in the province. After the road has been built, the visits of tourists will be greatly facilitated. The above plans have been submitted by Mr. Lau Wen-chung, magistrate of Ko yui to the governor for approval.

SMUGGLED TOBACCO.

OFFENDER WHO NEARLY ESCAPED.

Before Magistrate Fraser this morning a Chinese was charged with the unlawful possession of four tins of dutiable cigarettes. Chief Preventive Officer Clark said that when defendant was brought to his office, he had two tins of cigarettes in his coat pockets. Had that been all, he would have "kicked him out" and taken no further action, added the Inspector, but the defendant held his arms in a suspicious manner, and when ordered to put up his hands, dropped two more tins from his armpits. "There was nothing left but to charge him," the Inspector concluded. The Magistrate passed sentence of seven days' hard labour.

Magistrate Fraser also had before him this morning, a Chinese charged with the unlawful possession of 5,580 dutiable cigarettes. The defendant, who said he was a cobbler by trade, and asserted he had only just arrived from Kowloon yesterday afternoon, pleaded ignorance of local regulations. He said that he was offered 20 cents by another passenger to take the cigarette ashore. Advising the defendant not to do it again, the Magistrate let him off with a fine of $25 or two months' hard labour. The cigarettes were confiscated.

MARINE MISDOINGS.

For carrying 30 passengers in excess of the number allowed by his licence the master of the steam launch "Wai Hung" was fined $20 by the Marine Magistrate. (Commander Beckwith, R.N.) this morning. Eight defendants pleaded not guilty to charges of having gone aboard the s.s. "Tanda" while the police flag was flying. They said they did not see the flag. One who had been previously convicted had to pay $25 or do a fortnight's jail and the other seven got off with a five dollar fine or ten days' imprisonment.

Farmers in East and West Sussex, Kent, and Surrey have decided to establish a bacon factory to counteract "buyers rings" which, they say, keep up prices at local markets.

If 3,000,000 adults in London gave the price of a packet of cigarettes weekly it would feed the hospitals from debt, said Dr. McAdam Eccles, surgeon at St. Bartholomew's Hospital.

FRENCH LEAVE.

RICSHA COOLIE FINED FOR NOT GIVING NOTICE.

Mr. H. W. Ebstein, of Kowloon, charged his ricksha coolie before Magistrate Fraser this morning with having left his employ on April 17 without giving the usual month's notice.

Defendant said that he had given notice. He had told the cook to tell Mr. Ebstein that he was going home because his father was very ill.

Mr. Ebstein said that when the cook brought him the coolie's uniform, he told the defendant through the cook that he would have to supply a good substitute or serve the month out. To make sure that the defendant understood him, said Mr. Ebstein, he took him to the Water Police Station and had the situation explained to him there. That night while the witness was having dinner, the defendant "took French leave."

Defendant now changed his story and said that Mr. Ebstein had deducted $3 from his wages in March. He resented this because he had done nothing to merit it, and left because his master would not refund the money. Had the money not been deducted, he would not have left. Magistrate: You cannot take the law in your hands. Fined $3.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

While working cargo at the Kowloon Godown yesterday, a coolie was crushed to death by a heavy bale of cargo which slipped off the crane sling.

THE CHINA MAIL

Rufus Coppock and his pet.

An American claimant to $50,000,000 worth of Pennsylvania property. Meanwhile he enjoys his dog and his cigar.

Men mentioned by Renter.

$1,000 LAP DOG.

PEKINGESE PETS IN TINY BOUTOIRS.

Several hundred lapdogs were assembled at the Lambeth Baths, Kennington-road, S.E., on the occasion of the London and Provincial Pekingese Club's annual show.

Up and down the aisles, most of them in celluloid-fronted bonnets that protected them from the slightest draught, were the small squat-nosed dogs, sleeping or looking out on the world through bulging eyes. The majority reclined on down pillows and pale blue silk upholstery. Some had pale blue curtains, to be drawn when they felt like a dose.

A few of the dogs were valued at 8 or 10 guineas. Most of them were 25 or 50 guineas. Some were valued at £200 or £300, and "Champion Chut-Too of Alderbourne" would probably fetch, according to exhibitors, £1,000.

Exhibitors were busy all day, at intervals, attending to their pets with brushes and combs.

Surcharged Irish stamps. The words mean "Provisional Govt. of Ireland."

"ECONOMY LAND."

NONE VERY RICH; FEW VERY POOR.

If Newfoundland were in need of another name it would deserve to be called "Economy Land."

"Amongst the Newfoundlanders," says the report just issued by the Department of Overseas Trade on the trade and industrial resources of Newfoundland, "there are practically no very rich people and comparatively few very poor."

"There is a noticeable absence of extravagance, quiet comfort being preferred to luxury. Large families are the rule, and the love of home life is a national characteristic."

The report comments on the fact that many people still think of Newfoundland as a part of Canada.

"From the view-point of discovery," it says, "Newfoundland is the oldest overseas part of the British Empire, for in 1497 John Cabot took possession in the name of King Henry VII."

RULES FOR DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION.

The Admiralty, Board of Trade, Lloyd's Register, British Corporation, Bureau Veritas, the Institution of Naval Architects, the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders in Scotland, the North-east Coast Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders, the Institute of Marine Engineers, the Liverpool Engineering Society; all these, comprising many superintendents and consulting engineers, university professors, steel makers and tube manufacturers, have contributed their varied and specialised experience; and the results are what might have been expected—a unified set of rules instead of what we had to put up with in the past, each register being a law unto itself. This used to operate harshly, and led to all sorts of anomalies, when a vessel was ordered with boilers to comply with the Board of Trade, Lloyd's, and possibly a third, and even a fourth society's regulation. Now the same regulations apply to all. Towards

It was announced in Washington that a new device developed by the navy, which makes it possible to measure ocean depths hitherto unknown and for navigators to test soundings easily and as frequently as they wish, had proved effective in recent tests on the radio and sonar experimental ship "Ohio." The device, which is described as simple, employs a sound apparatus similar to that developed for submarine detection during the war, the principle being the creation of a sound on board ship and the measuring of the time between this sound and the return of its echo from the bottom of the sea. "For a time interval, it was said, can be obtained within one one-thousandth of a second.

We can hardly imagine a more beautiful life for a young boy than that that is led by the little Emperor. He is cloistered in a building, which, like the Forbidden City, is steadily repaired, goes through a dreary pattern every hour of the day, strains his weak, nearsighted eyes on Romanised script and the intricate characters of China, Manchuria and Mongolia. The youthful survivor of the once royal house probably envies to the bottom of his heart the foreign schoolboy with a patch on his trousers, a fish hook in his pocket, and a bag of marbles in his hand. Only a few days ago, the Emperor won a long contested war by issuing an Imperial edict ordering a doctor of the Peking University Medical College to fit him with glasses. Despite his painfully strained
